HEAD COACH • ARIZONA '93 • TENTH YEAR AT MARYLAND • 13TH YEAR OVERALL

BRENDA FRESE

There was no better fit for the University of Maryland women's basketball team than head coach Brenda Frese. The 2002 Associated Press National Coach of the Year arrived in College Park with great expectations and has not disappointed. Reviving a once-prominent women's basketball program back to the national stage, her high work rate and positive attitude has resulted in seven top-10 recruiting classes and a national championship in 2006. Frese has balanced that strong work ethic with a fun and family-friendly environment, also becoming a wife and a mother of twin boys, giving birth to them in the midst of one of the most successful seasons in the program's history. With the birth of her twins in February 2008, she becomes one of only six coaches to win a national championship and be a parent.

Since her first season at the helm, when the team won just 10 games, Frese has guided Maryland to a national championship in 2006, eight winning seasons, seven straight 20-win seasons, including three 30-win campaigns, and seven trips to the NCAA Tournament. In 2006-07, Maryland also received its first-ever No. 1 preseason national ranking, remaining in the top spot in the polls for 10 consecutive weeks.

Her efforts earned her a multi-year extension from director of athletics Kevin Anderson in the summer of 2011. The extension keeps her on the Maryland sidelines through June 2017.

Former Athletics Director Deborah A. Yow courted the 2002 Associated Press National Coach of the Year because of Frese's reputation for making amazing turnarounds and her relentless work ethic with recruiting. Standing atop the podium in Boston in 2006, Frese became the fifth-youngest coach in NCAA history to win a national title and only the ninth to win on her first trip to the Final Four.

Despite claiming eight ACC Tournament titles, Maryland's program advanced to new heights when Frese arrived. In her second season, she led Maryland to a tie for third in the ACC standings, its highest finish since 1996-97. In 2007-08, the Terrapins earned their highest ACC Tournament seeding in 15 years, winning a school record-tying 13 league games.

Frese's players have received numerous ACC honors. In 2008, Crystal Langhorne was selected the ACC's Player of the Year, only the second Terrapin all-time to receive the honor, and the first in nearly 20 years. In 2005, she was the program's first ACC Rookie of the Year since 1991, and following in her footsteps, Marissa Coleman also nabbed the rookie honor during the Terps' championship campaign in 2006. Kristi Toliver was named ACC Player of the Year in 2009 and the Terps' only returning starter this year, Lynetta Kizer, was named Freshman of the Year that year as well. In March 2011, Alyssa Thomas became the fourth Terrapin under Frese to be earn ACC Rookie of the Year honors in six years.

In all, 19 Terps have been named to the All-ACC team in Frese's nine years, including a school-record four in 2008, when Langhorne, Coleman, Kristi Toliver and Laura Harper were selected. Four Terps have been first-team selections five times. Langhorne became Maryland's first three-time, first-team all-conference selection and the first to be named to the All-ACC team four times. Shay Doron, Frese's first Maryland recruit in College Park, and Coleman, were two of four Terrapins all-time to earn all-conference honors three times. Doron was the first freshman in school history to be named All-ACC in 2004. 10 of Frese's players have been named to the All-ACC Freshman Team.

Several Terps have also garnered national recognition under Frese. Toliver became the first Terrapin to earn the highest point guard honor in the country, winning the Nancy Lieberman Award in 2008, after being a finalist the previous year. Last season, Toliver and Coleman were both named Associated Press All-Americans and earned spots on the State Farm Coaches' All-American team. Both were named finalists for the Wooden Award.

TINA LANGLEY

Tina Langley is in her fourth season at the University of Maryland and 14th in coaching overall. In the summer of 2011, she was promoted to associate head coach. Langley made an instant impact her first season with the Terps. She served a crucial role in helping to lead the Terps to their first ACC Championship in 20 seasons and helped secure one of the nation's top recruiting class for 2010.

As Coach Frese's top assistant, Langley's responsibilities include coordinating the Terps' recruiting efforts, assisting in player development, scouting, and on the court coaching.

"Tina jumped right in and made a huge impact for us. Her work-ethic is nothing short of stellar, she has an excellent demeanor with our student-athletes, and she has an exceptional ability to take on many roles and responsibilities," said head coach Brenda Frese, "She possesses all the characteristics we need in a coach to make a positive impact on our recruiting efforts, player development, and our program as a whole. I'm looking forward to working by her side again this season."

In addition to her passion, determination, and work ethic, Langley has significant coaching experience. Prior to arriving in College Park in 2008, she had coaching stints at Toledo, Clemson and Georgia. She has been instrumental in recruiting, game preparation and floor management in each of her stops.

Langley spent five seasons at the University of Toledo, beginning her coaching career with the Rockets as a graduate assistant coach in 1998-99, before moving up to recruiting coordinator and eventual associate head coach during the 2002-03 campaign. She helped the Rockets reach the postseason three times, including two NCAA Tournament appearances. During her tenure, Toledo also won three Mid-American Conference regular season titles (1999, 2001, 2003) and two conference tournament crowns (1999 and 2001).

At Toledo, Langley was responsible for all facets of the program, including recruiting, scouting of opponents and coordinating the team's academic efforts. She helped to sign two nationally ranked classes, the Rockets accumulated a 101-38 record (.679) during her time, and the team's grade point average was ranked in the top 10 in the nation three times. On the floor, she worked directly with players who went on to be selected the team's Most Improved Player in 2001, 2002 and 2003.

Langley then joined the women's basketball staff at Clemson in 2003, under legendary head coach Jim Davis. In her two years with the Tigers, the team advanced to the 2004 Women's National Invitational Tournament (WNIT) while also orchestrating a CU-record six-signee class, which was ranked in the top 30 nationally in just her first season.

After her stop at Clemson, Langley was hired at the University of Georgia as the recruiting coordinator. Langley left coaching for a couple years and earned her second master's in Community Counseling from the University of Alabama, specializing in college mental health. She was named the Most Outstanding Graduate Student in 2008.

Langley played basketball and volleyball for two seasons at Bevill State Junior College before transferring to the University of West Alabama, where she lettered twice in basketball as a guard/forward. She graduated from UWA with a degree in special education in 1996, and earned her first master's degree in Recreation and Leisure with an emphasis in recreation administration from the University of Toledo.

Langley resides in Laurel, Md.

MARLIN CHINN

Marlin Chinn joined Brenda Frese's coaching staff in June 2009 following a successful four-year stint at Seton Hall, where he spent three seasons as the Pirates' top assistant and recruiting coordinator.

"We have always been about family first here at Maryland and it's pretty special to bring Marlin back home," Frese said. "This is where he wants to be and he already knows why Maryland is an incredible place. As we got to know each other, we quickly found Marlin shares common traits with us - loyalty, work ethic, care and concern for people and he is a tremendous recruiter. We feel as though Marlin will help us continue to set the bar high for excellence here at Maryland. We're excited to welcome him to our family."

In Chinn's second season on Phyllis Mangina's staff at Seton Hall, the Pirates posted their first winning record in Big East play in six years en route to a 13-win improvement from the previous season. During his tenure at Seton Hall, Chinn helped secure a top-30 national recruiting class in 2007, recruited a pair of All-Big East Rookie Team selections as well as recruiting and coaching two All-Big East performers.

The Archbishop Carroll High School alum previously spent seven seasons at Mount St. Mary's from 1998-2005, serving as top assistant for The Mount. There, he recruited five Northeast Conference All-Rookie Team choices, including the 2005 NEC Rookie of the Year. Chinn helped lead Mount St. Mary's to a pair of NEC regular-season titles in 1999 and 2001.

Prior to landing on the college scene, Chinn served as assistant men's high school coach locally at Theodore Roosevelt High School (1997-98) and Archbishop Carroll High School (1994-97).

Chinn is a member of both the Black Coaches Association (BCA) and the Women's Basketball Coaches Association (WBCA). He was recently selected into the 2007 BCA Achieving Coaching Excellence (ACE) for ethnic minority male and female basketball coach's class.

In spring 2011, Chinn served on a panel of the nation's top assistants at the A Step Up: Chicago 2011 event. He spoke at the BCA Conference in the summer of 2011 as well.

A 1992 graduate of Hampton University, Chinn is familiar with the area and is a native of Washington, D.C. Chinn graduated from Hampton with a B.S. in accounting. Chinn served as president of the National Association of Black Accountants in 1992.

DAVID ADKINS

David Adkins is in his third season at Maryland, joining the Terrapins in June 2009 after a successful career in the high school ranks working with some of the best players in the country. He has helped more than 50 players earn college scholarships, including 41 Division I scholarships.

"David Adkins is one of the most highly-regarded player-development coaches in all of basketball and we are incredibly fortunate to have gained his services," Maryland head coach Brenda Frese said. "I first got to know David through (former Terrapin) Marissa Coleman and (former Maryland men's basketball player) Greivis Vasquez, who rave about him. He's been a big part of some incredible basketball programs and he brings tremendous energy and knowledge."

Adkins joined the Terrapins after spending 17 years as a high school assistant coach, but his coaching laurels reach far beyond the prep ranks. Widely known in basketball circles as an elite developer of talent, Adkins has helped ripen the games of two NBA players and trained many more, two McDonald's All-Americans, three Jordan All-Americans, three Maryland Gatorade Players of the Year, four Parade All-Americans and three Washington Post Players of the Year during his time teaching the game as a high school assistant, camp counselor and in private workouts. Additionally, Adkins has trained several high-profile European professionals, including former Maryland standout Nik Caner-Medley.

Over the course of his career, he has helped ripen the games of three NBA players and many Division I athletes such as Kevin Durant (Oklahoma City Thunder), Linas Kleiza (Toronto Raptors), Greivis Vasquez (Memphis Grizzlies), Austin Freeman (Georgetown), Jeff Peterson (Arkansas) and Jerai Grant (Clemson).

Adkins, a 1989 graduate of Radford University, also served as an assistant coach for Team USA at the 2006 19-U Nike World Championships and during the 2007 Capital Classic in College Park.

He most recently coached for three years at legendary high school power DeMatha Catholic in Hyattsville, Md., helping the Stags claim two conference titles and two city titles while compiling a record of 83-20. Prior to his stint at DeMatha, Adkins spent seven seasons as an assistant at nationally-acclaimed Montrose Christian High School in Rockville, Md. During his tenure, Montrose Christian was ranked No. 1 in The Washington Post final poll in 2003, 2005 and 2006 where it finished in the USA Today Top-10 each of those years.

In total, Montrose Christian finished in the top-25 of the USA Today poll in five of Adkins' seven seasons at the school.

Adkins' camp experience includes the Nike All-Asia Camp in Beijing (counselor), the Nike Basketball Power Factory Tryout and Training Camp in Beijing (coach), the Five Star Basketball Camp in Caloforte, Italy (camp director), the Chris Paul Elite Backcourt Camp, the Snow Valley Basketball Camp, the Nike All-American Camp (coach) and the Nike Hoop Jamboree Camp (coach).

Adkins resides in Ashburn, Va., with his wife, Janet, and two daughters Ryland and Camryn. Ryland is a sophomore at Maryland and is a manager for the women's basketball team.

DIRECTOR OF OPERATIONS • SECOND YEAR AT MARYLAND
DUKE '96

CHRIS CAMPBELL

Maryland Women's Basketball head coach Brenda Frese welcomed Chris Campbell as the new Director of Operations in the summer of 2010. Campbell was an assistant coach at University of Delaware from 2008-10 and is a Maryland native.

"We feel very fortunate to have someone of Chris' caliber," said Frese. "He's very bright and really brings a lot to our program. His local ties are a bonus; he's another member of our staff that brings even more people into supporting our program."

While at Delaware, Campbell assisted head coach Tina Martin in recruiting, game plan preparation, practice plans, video and academic performance. He has earned a reputation as a tireless worker and is well-versed in all aspects of the game. Campbell played a key part in Delaware's outstanding 2009-10 season that saw the Blue Hens post a record of 21-12, advance to the Colonial Athletic Association, and earn a spot in the Women's National Invitation Tournament. Delaware was led by the play of freshman Elena Delle Donne who became the first UD women's player to earn All-American honors while also garnering CAA Player and Rookie of the Year honors.

"This past season has been an incredible journey," said Campbell. "Coach Frese is one of the best in the business, and I have enjoyed learning from her and the rest of her staff and interacting with a great team of young women. University of Maryland is one of the top universities in the country for academics and athletics, and it is an honor to be a Terp and to be at such a prestigious institution. There is an excitement around Maryland women's basketball, and I love the energy and enthusiasm of the fans and supporters that surround this program."

Born in Mt. Kisco, N.Y. and raised in Potomac, Md., Campbell was the top assistant at Marymount University in his three seasons there under 25-year head coach Bill Finney and served as the team's recruiting coordinator. He helped lead the Saints to a three-year record of 61-25 and NCAA Division III Tournament appearances in 2006 and 2008. The team won the Capital Athletic Conference title in 2006 and advanced to the title game in both 2007 and 2008.

TERRAPIN SPIRIT SQUAD

The Terrapin Spirit Squad, under the direction of seventh-year head coach Jamie Little, is an integral part of the pageantry and excitement of Maryland Athletics! This group of students joins the University's marching band to form the core of Maryland Terrapin spirit.

During the fall season, the squad supports Maryland football at both home and away games, as well as postseason bowl events. In addition, during the late fall and winter seasons, the Terrapin Spirit Squad supports both the men's and the women's basketball teams at all home games and joins them on the road at the ACC and NCAA tournaments. In the spring, the Spirit Squad competes at the National Cheerleading Association (NCA) Collegiate National Championship in Daytona Beach, Fla.

Aside from practice, games and competing, the team also participates in many other events for the University, including the Alumni Association, the Department of Intercollegiate Athletics and various other charities.

SUMMER WITH THE SECRET SERVICE

A criminology and criminal justice major, junior Tianna Hawkins spent her summer interning with the Secret Service in Washington D.C. Maryland's criminology and criminal justice program is one of the best in the country,

How did you decide you wanted to do criminology and criminal justice?
I've always wanted to do federal law enforcement. I did my research on a few agencies and I decided that I wanted to intern with the Secret Service.

What was a typical day at your internship like?
My days varied. One day I was doing administrative work at the offices downtown and then the next day I was assisting at a job fair in the area.

What types of things did you get to do?
I did a lot of research on different colleges and universities, helped with job fairs, worked with different employees in my division and administrative work. I got to meet a lot of really cool people and see some cool things, but I can't tell you!

What's your ultimate goal for when you graduate?
When I graduate, I plan to become a Uniformed Division Officer with the United States Secret Service, obtain a Master's Degree, and eventually become a Special Agent with the Secret Service.

How have your classes helped you prepare for your career?
Class has helped me with being on time and doing things in a timely fashion. It was also helpful having general knowledge, thanks to my classes, on law enforcement and the law.

FAMILY FOREVER

TEAM Tyler FOUNDATION

When Brenda Frese's two-year-old son, Tyler Thomas, was diagnosed with leukemia on Sept. 28, 2010, a few of her family members knew that had to do something. Those family members were former players that no longer played at Maryland, but knew they had to help a family member in need of support. One of the trademarks of Frese's highly-successful program has been the true family atmosphere.

"I heard about Tyler's illness from Marissa Coleman," former player Laura Harper said. "She went to Comcast Center that day with some of the girls and Coach B told them the news. She could barely keep from crying when she told me."

"My very next thought after hearing what happened with Tyler was that something had to be done. We had to provide awareness, support and to stick behind Coach B. The most important thing to me was that we instilled our family atmosphere to show our support."

Coleman and Harper contacted a few other former players to get involved. Shay Doron and Kristi Toliver jumped onboard, while Crystal Langhorne supported from a distance while she was playing overseas.

As the Maryland women's basketball family began taking action, the Team Tyler Foundation was formed.

"When we told Coach B what we wanted to do, she was overjoyed with our idea and she told us it was going to be hard work but that she would support us through every step," Harper said.

As word spread of their new undertaking, the women's basketball family around the country began to reach out. Purdue, Georgia Tech, Loyola, and Duke were just a few of the programs to donate to Team Tyler's cause of supporting the Johns Hopkins Cancer Center and helping to find a cure.

"The support was overwhelming at first and hard to manage because so many people wanted to help and be a part of this cause," Harper said.

The official support group of Maryland women's basketball, the Rebounders, stepped up right away.

"The Rebounders in particular really wanted to take a stance and everyone followed. Under Armour also stepped up and helped us with creating some of our shirts," Harper said.

In its first year, the Team Tyler Foundation has already made a donation to Johns Hopkins.

"Starting the foundation was our first goal," Harper said. "In reaching a year that the foundation has been founded I think we have a lot more things we want to accomplish this year but our first year was truly a success."

Team Tyler's slogan is, "Out of Difficulties Grow Miracles." Or, one could say, "When one is in need, the FAMILY steps up."

PRESIDENT

WALLACE D. LOH

Wallace D. Loh became the 33rd president of the University of Maryland in November 2010. He is responsible for providing leadership to the university's 37,000 students, 12 colleges and schools, and 9,000 members of the faculty and staff, as well as overseeing its $1.6 billion operating budget.

His priorities include strengthening educational excellence by emphasizing student opportunity and achievement; expanding innovation and entrepreneurship to make the University a major catalyst for economic vitality in the region and the nation; internationalizing the University by bringing the world to the campus and projecting the campus to the world; and adapting the public service values of the land-grant mission to enhance the quality of life of people in urban and metropolitan regions–as well as agricultural areas–of the state.

Prior to coming to Maryland, Dr. Loh served as executive vice president and provost at The University of Iowa. Previously, he served as dean of arts and sciences at Seattle University; director of executive policy and chief policy adviser to Governor Gary Locke of the State of Washington (now the U.S. ambassador to China); vice chancellor for academic affairs and dean of faculties at the University of Colorado-Boulder; and dean of the University of Washington Law School.

While working in Washington State government, he formed and staffed Governor Locke's "2020 Commission on the Future of Post-Secondary Education." The work of the Commission resulted in the "Washington Promise Scholarship" that expanded college access for students from low- and middle-income families.

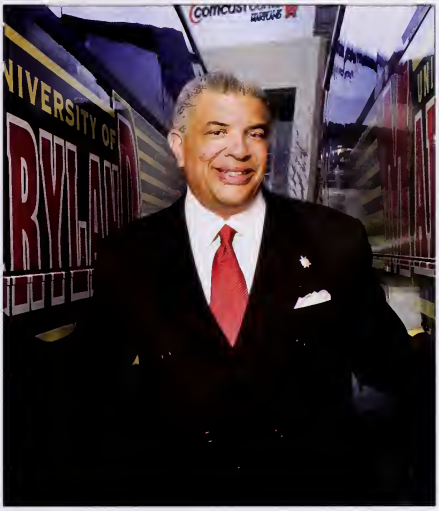
Dr. Loh served on the law faculty at the University of Washington (where he was voted by students the Outstanding Professor of the Year), Vanderbilt University, Emory University, University of Houston, Cornell University, University of Texas-Austin, and Peking University (Beijing, China). His specialty is criminal justice and the uses of social research in the legal process. He was elected president of the Association of American Law Schools, the learned society of the academic legal profession.

Born in Shanghai, China, he moved with his family to Lima, Peru. After graduating from high school there, he immigrated alone to the U.S. and became a naturalized citizen. He holds a J.D. from Yale Law School, a Ph.D. from the University of Michigan, an M.A. from Cornell University, and a B.A. from Grinnell College. He did graduate study at the Universiteit te Leuven (Louvain, Belgium). He received honorary degrees from Grinnell College, Iowa Wesleyan College, and Montgomery College. He received the "Immigrant Achievement Award" from the American Immigration Council and the "Trailblazer Award" from the National Asian Pacific–American Bar Association.

Dr. Loh is married to Barbara, a nurse, and they have a daughter, Andrea, who is in college.

DIRECTOR OF ATHLETICS

KEVIN ANDERSON



Despite a year that saw unprecedented change in Maryland Athletics, Kevin Anderson has led the Terrapins on a path that has begun with unparalleled success.

In his first year on the job as director of athletics at the University of Maryland, Anderson hired Randy Edsall in football and Mark Turgeon in men's basketball, completing a pair of outstanding head-coaching searches that give the Terrapins a head start at success in those two sports.

While handling those high-profile changes, Maryland completed Anderson's first year in College Park by achieving a school-record 17th-place finish in the Learfield Sports Directors' Cup standings. That finish was led by a NCAA national championship in field hockey and national runner-up finishes in men's and women's lacrosse.

In launching the Terrapins on their path to success, Anderson has instituted an inclusive management style that combines a passion for providing a quality experience for Maryland's 700-some student-athletes with a thoughtful business acumen that has him managing the Terrapins' $59 million budget and more than 180 employees.

His leadership skills are also prominent nationally, as he is currently the first vice president of the National Association of Collegiate Directors of Athletics (NACDA) and will move up to president of that organization next year.

Anderson was hired in September 2010 as athletics director at Maryland after serving since 2004 in the same post at the U.S. Military Academy.

"Kevin has built a solid program of competitive and academic success at the U.S. Military Academy, supporting the student-athlete and demonstrating that academics and athletics can go hand in hand," President Dr. Wallace Loh said at the time of the hire. "I am convinced that his leadership will raise Maryland Athletics to even greater heights."

At Army, Anderson was responsible for a 25-sport program that served more than 900 cadet-athletes.

While at Army, Anderson helped develop and manage a budget of $25 million and turned an operating deficit of more than a million dollars into a $2.73 million surplus in only five years. Sponsorship, ticket sales and fund-raising revenue all increased during his time there.

Anderson led a team that negotiated a five-year, $55 million deal with CBS to televise the Army-Navy game, and worked on the agreement that brought college football to Yankee Stadium, with the Army-Notre Dame game. During his time at West Point, Anderson also brokered broadcast deals for Army's football program with ESPN, WABC Radio and its current five-year agreement with CBS College Sports Network.

On the field, Anderson led a broad-based resurgence that saw 20 Army teams earn berths in NCAA Championships, including programs in 10 different sports. Army improved its standing in the 2009-10 Learfield Sports Directors' Cup by 11 places, marking its highest showing since the 2004-05 season and finishing ahead of both its service-academy rivals Navy and Air Force.

In his last two years at West Point, Anderson led searches that resulted in the hiring of Rich Ellerson as Army's football coach and Zach Spiker as the program's men's basketball coach. In his first season, Ellerson led the Black Knights to their winningest season since 1996 and came just one victory from a bowl berth, while Spiker posted the most wins by a first-year Army coach since Bob Knight led the Black Knights. Another Anderson hire, Michelle DePolo, was named the 2010 Patriot League Softball Coach of the Year in her first season. In all, four coaches hired during Anderson's tenure were honored with league coach of the year awards in 2009-10.

A number of facilities improvements were made during his tenure at Army. The Foley Athletic Center, Army's indoor practice facility was completed in 2007. That joined the construction of Randall Hall, which houses coaches' offices and locker rooms for Army's men's and women's basketball teams, as well as luxury suites overlooking Michie Stadium. Anderson oversaw the installation a new playing surface and a state-of-the-art high-definition video board in its football home. Anderson also spearheaded facility-improvement projects that included new practice fields, renovations for the baseball and softball complexes and an indoor practice facility for golf.

Anderson, who has more than two decades of leadership experience, has also been recognized nationally as a leader in intercollegiate athletics. In addition to his current service on the NACDA Board of Directors, he has served as chair for the NACDA's McClendon Minority Scholarship Steering Committee and serves as chair of the NCAA Division I Men's Basketball Issues Committee.

From January 2003 to December 2004, Anderson was the executive associate athletics director at Oregon State. In that role, he was responsible for the administration and operation of seven sports, including football, as well as men's and women's basketball.

Anderson spent five seasons at the University of California, Berkeley, advancing quickly in the Golden Bears' department. He moved from an assistant A.D. for annual giving to an associate A.D. for development and ticketing and ended his tenure there as the executive associate A.D. for external affairs.

Before taking the position with California, Anderson served as executive director of the YMCA of the East Bay from 1995 to 1997. He was director of annual giving for athletics at Stanford University from 1993 to 1995.

He is a 1979 graduate of San Francisco State University with a bachelor's degree in political science. He has attended the Sports Management Institute's executive management program and is a product of the new manager school at Xerox.

Anderson and his wife, Moira, have four children – daughters, Olivia and Michaela, and sons, Kevin Jr. and Chauncey.

Maryland Gameplan

The Maryland Gameplan is intended to assist graduating Terrapin student-athletes as they begin the job search process. It is distributed to more than 500 corporations and businesses across the country, in addition to being featured on umterps.com. Prospective employers are introduced to our graduating student-athletes with resume information relative to academic, career and personal achievements.

Career Networking Night

Because career development is an ongoing process, ASCDU provides a variety of programs for student-athletes throughout the year. Professional assistance with resume-writing, interviewing skills, graduate school search and job search is readily available to all student-athletes. During the spring semester ASCDU hosts the Career Networking Night, where student-athletes can learn about career interests and career planning. Unlike typical "job fairs," the purpose of this program is to allow student-athletes to explore multiple career opportunities by speaking directly to individuals in their chosen areas of interest. Employers at the Career Networking Night recognize the marketable qualities student-athletes have gained through athletic participation. Student-athletes learn about opportunities for internships and full-time jobs.

Student-Athlete Advisory Committee

The Student-Athlete Advisory Committee (S.A.A.C.) plays an important role in the Department of Intercollegiate Athletics. It consists of two representatives from each varsity sport and meets on a regular basis with representatives from the athletic administration. The S.A.A.C. mission is to enhance the total student-athlete experience by developing leadership skills, promoting student-athlete welfare and fostering a positive student-athlete image on the Maryland campus, local area and nationally.

STUDENT WELFARE AND CAREER DEVELOPMENT

TERRAPIN Life Skills Programs

ASCDU houses the NCAA's (National Collegiate Athletic Association) TERRAPIN Life Skills Program. The ASCDU staff, in collaboration with various other Department of Intercollegiate Athletics' units and campus resources, strives to provide a systematic personal development program designed to reach each student-athlete based on his or her individual needs. The focus of the program is on the individual academically, athletically and emotionally, and on the changing needs and skills of that individual in the years during college and after graduation. The menu of presentations, workshops and seminars is a comprehensive and balanced system of "life learning" programs promoted for use by each varsity sport team.

Highlights of the TERRAPIN Life Skills Programs:

- Support efforts of every student-athlete toward intellectual development and graduation
- Use athletics as preparation for success in life
- Meet the changing needs of student-athletes
- Promote respect for diversity among student-athletes
- Enhance interpersonal relationships in the lives of student-athletes
- Assist student-athletes in building positive self-esteem
- Enable student-athletes to make meaningful contributions to their communities
- Promote ownership by the student-athletes of their academic, athletic, personal and social responsibilities
- Enhance partnerships between the NCAA, member institutions and their communities for the purpose of education
- Encourage the development of leadership skills
